

“When I graduated from college in June, I needed a job and health insurance. While I have some good leads on a job, thanks to the new health care law I have health insurance. My parents put me on their plan, which I can stay on until I'm 26. It's great to know that while I get my work life started I'll be covered.”

The new health care law allows young adults to stay on their parents' insurance until age 26.

Persons depicted are models. Quotes are created for illustrative purposes and are not to imply that models actually suffer from physical or mental health conditions or make any personal endorsements.

Learn more at www.healthcare.gov

Supported by a grant from The California Endowment